GOMEZ'S NEW OFFICE MAY NOT LAST LONG

Provisional Presidency Has a Shaky Support.

El Paso, May 8.—A message has come from Pascual Orozco, generalissimo of the rebels, declaring that he declines to recognize Vasquez Gomez as provisional president or the establishment of a provisional government, notwithstanding Orozco's father is secretary of war in the cabinet of the provisional president and Vasquez Gomez in his proclamation of acceptance declared he had assumed the duties and responsibilities of office upon the request of Orozco.

In Too Great a Hurry. Orozco, jr., does not deny having sent for Vasquez Gomez to come to Chihuahua, but says: "I would have received him gladly if he had come into our territory to consult with my men and myself, but I disapprove of the establishment of a provisional government until the revolution triumphs."

News has come that Orozco has advanced as far as Escalon. So far as known the rebel army has not advanced further than Peralon, which is forty-two miles north of Torreón. As Mexico City dispatches report that the federals began advancing from Torreón Monday, a battle is expected at any time.

Bold Burglars Make Rich Haul. Indianapolis, May 8.—Burglars robbed the Wolf Sussman pawnshop, 251 West Washington street, of $10,000 worth of diamonds and about $1,000 worth of watches and jewelry. The thieves obtained entrance by boring holes into a vacant room overhead and tearing out a section of flooring.

Martinsville Reporter Sold. Martinsville, Ind., May 8.—Postmaster Frank T. Singleton has sold the Daily Reporter and Weekly Republican, which he has owned since 1892, to Harry J. Martin, formerly of the Seymour Republican, and announces that he has retired permanently from the newspaper field.

A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR

A Little Sage and Sulphur Makes Gray Hair Vanish—A Remedy for All Hair Troubles.

Who does not know the value of Sage and Sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft and glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, Sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than Sage and Sulphur, if properly prepared.

The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put out an ideal preparation of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, in which Sage and Sulphur are combined with other valuable remedies for keeping the hair and scalp in clean, healthy condition.

If your hair is losing its color or constantly coming out, or if you are troubled with dandruff or dry, itchy scalp, get a fifty cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist, use it according to the simple directions, and see what a difference a few days' treatment will make in the appearance of your hair.

All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented.

Organization of a Stallion Company

By D. O. THOMPSON, Animal Husbandry Department, Purdue University Experiment Station, Purdue University Agricultural Extension

A Purebred Belgian Stallion Which Has Proved a Valuable Sire.

When farmers in a community find themselves so situated that the services of a truly high class stallion of the desired type or breed is not available, and when no one of their number is able or desires to invest and assume the risk on the amount of money required for the purchase of such an individual, a stallion company may well be organized.

Farmers interested should determine upon the extent of the membership desirable, 20 or 25 persons generally forming a sufficiently large organization of this kind. These may be secured upon solicitation of the leaders in the matter, or may be secured at a meeting to which desirable prospective members have been invited. They should all be progressive farmers, and preferably owners of mares suited to the type of stallion to be secured.

At the organization meeting, sales of stock should be consummated, and the following officers elected: President, vice-president, secretary-treasurer, stallioner, and one executive committee member, who, with the four above officers should form the executive committee of the company, the duty of which it should be to manage the affairs of the company according to the policies which should be formulated at the regular meeting of the company with not less than three-fourths of the membership present.

The stock should be sold in shares of $50 or $100, the latter being a good unit, and every share should be fully paid in at the organization meeting. Each share should carry with it one vote in the business sessions of the company.

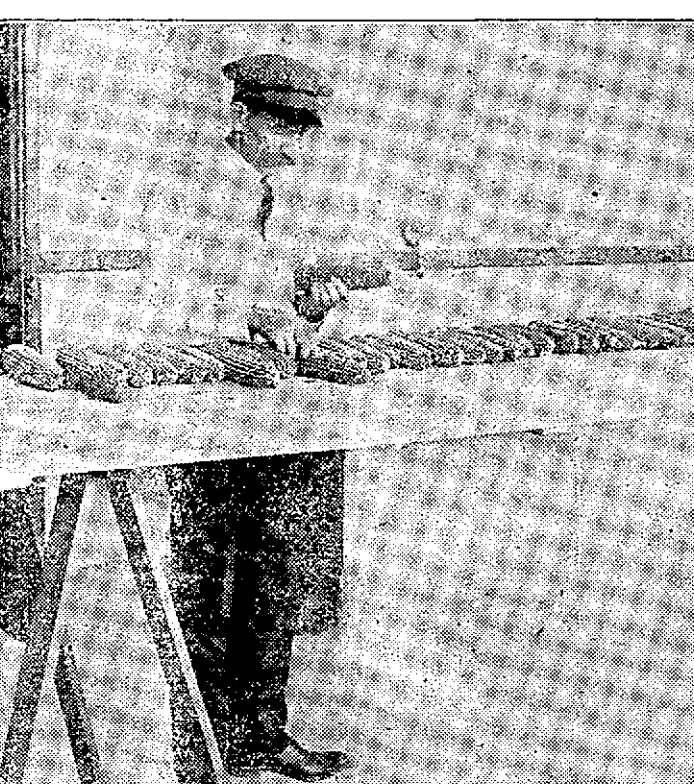

Thus two small farmers may unite in purchasing a $100 share, and still the total number of voting units be kept down to a workable number. Stock should be issued in amounts sufficient to finance the company; about $2,000 or $2,500 should be sufficient to cover cost of purchasing a stallion, initial traveling expenses, and keep for the first year.

The service fee to be charged should be determined and should be uniform to members and non-members. It should be payable to the secretary upon certified assurance that the mare is in foal, and there should be nothing in the contract about "guaranteeing a foal to stand and suck." The stallion should be properly recorded with the county recorder, so that the lien law may apply.

The earnings of the company may well be expended in the following ways: Insurance on the horse; maintenance and salary of stallioner, to an efficient man, and none other should be employed, should not be less than 25 per cent. of the gross earnings of the company; salary of the secretary-treasurer, which should be sufficient to pay for the labor of book-keeping, and collection and payments of accounts; expenses of advertising and showing the horse and his get at the local and county fairs and shows; dividends to shareholders. The shareholders should usually find they have a fair return on their investment in the way of dividends. Their greatest profits, however, will come in the improvement they realize in their horse stock as the result of having the services of a valuable stallion.

Final Selection of the Seed

By C. O. CROMER, Soils and Crops Department, Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station, Purdue University Agricultural Extension

Selecting Seed Corn.

The wise farmer in providing seed corn for next season's crop will begin in the fall preceding to select from the field the ears which most nearly approach his ideal. Aside from type of ear, the seed ear has certain characteristics as shown on the stalk which are of considerable importance in their relation to the quality of seed. Experiments have shown that the best seed ear is produced on the well developed stalks. Experiments have also shown that the height of the ear from the ground and strength of the shank can be changed more or less by selecting ears having the desired qualities. However, all ears which are produced on desirable stalks are not desirable ears so far as type, shape and general characteristics of the ear itself are concerned. Consequently a second or final selection of ears must be made. This means that a larger lot of corn should be chosen in the fall than will be required to plant the crop.

During the winter the farmer has more time to make his selection and should do so before making the germination test, as he can save the trouble and expense of testing a large number of undesirable ears as to type. To do this in the best possible manner, all the corn should be laid out on a table or in some place where all the ears can be gone over. With the ideal ear in one hand, those which conform to the ideal type as to shape of ear, character of kernel, maturity, etc., can be selected out to be put to the test for germination. This means that there will still need to be more corn selected than is required to plant the crop, as more or less will be discarded on account of poor germination in passing through the test. Any ear which germinates less than four out of five kernels should be discarded at once and thrown into the feeding crib. Of course, it would be best if one could select only those ears which have a perfect germination.

By giving this final critical selection of seed ears careful attention the stand of corn and general type of the crop can be greatly improved and the financial returns will many times over pay for the cost of all the extra labor.

The Law of Love. Luke vi:27-38; Rom. xiii:8-10.

Golden Text—Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. Rom. xiii:9.

(1.) Verses 27-28—What benefit is it to us, to the cause of God or to our enemies if we love them?

(2.) What is implied in loving our enemies?

(3.) Why is it, or not, natural for us to love our enemies?

(4.) If being desirous of loving our enemies and we do not succeed, what means should we adopt to accomplish our desire?

(5.) Verses 29-30—Granted that it is the duty of all of us to love our enemies, is it also our duty under all circumstances when we have been smitten on one cheek to turn the other also and if one steals our cloak to let him steal our coat also? Give your reasons.

(6.) If a man is not willing to turn the other cheek and give up his coat after having his cloak stolen, provided this was the will of God in any given circumstance, what would you say of such a man?

(7.) Why is it, or not, essential for a Christian to hold himself in readiness to do anything God may clearly command, no matter how unreasonable it may look to him? (This is one of the questions that may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(8.) Verses 31-34—Wherein ought a Christian to be better than a sinner in his treatment of his fellows?

(9.) Is it easy or difficult, and why, for a truly good man to literally treat others as he would like to be treated?

(10.) When Christian men loan money does Christ mean that they should not be so careful to be properly secured, or does he simply mean that there is no more merit in such a transaction than an ordinary sinner would be entitled to?

(11.) Verses 35-36—Which is generally the better way to help those in need—to loan them money without security or to give it to them?

(12.) What is the reward or profit for loaning money without security to the needy with the sole object of helping them?

(13.) What is implied in being merciful as God is?

(14.) Verses 37-38—What does Jesus mean by judge not, condemn not and forgive, and what results follow such actions?

(15.) What right have we to expect if we give liberally of our money that God will cause our fellow men to give with superabundance to us?

(16.) Rom. xiii:8-10—In what spirit should we give, rule and show mercy?

(17.) What relation has Christian love with right living?

(18.) To what extent does love make us prefer others to ourselves?

THEY STAND BY THEIR DEMANDS

District 11 Miners Now Virtually Are On Strike.

THEIR POSITION IS SUSTAINED

Report of the Policy Committee Recommends That the Miners in the Terre Haute District Stand Firm in Their Position, and When National Committee Indorses This Action the Strike Will Be On.

Terre Haute, Ind., May 8.—The suspension of mining in the state practically became a strike when the report of the policy committee, recommending that the men stand by their demands, was adopted by the United Mine Workers of District 11. Some of the demands made on the operators were modified, eliminating many of the requests, and the convention voted unanimously to adopt the report of the committee.

It was recommended by the policy committee that the demand of the miners be submitted to the operators individually and that work should be resumed in those mines where the agreement was signed by the operators. All men except engineers, firemen and repair men are to quit work, and the only labor that can be done is that which protects property.

The action of the miners, however, needs the approval of the national organization, and the district officers say that approval will be forthcoming at a special meeting of the national executive board at Indianapolis tomorrow.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse and regulate your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and that misery-making gas; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Children love to take Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken.

AMERICANS NOT IN SERIOUS STRAITS

Reports From Mexico Found to Be Exaggerated.

Washington, May 8.—According to dispatches received at the war department from Captain Frank D. Ely of the army transport Buford, sent to the Mexican coast to rescue any Americans or other foreigners, reports of Americans in distress on the west coast of Mexico have been much exaggerated.

Captain Ely arrived at Los Mochas from Mazatlan, and found less than a dozen Americans waiting to board the Buford. It had been reported that a refugee colony of more than 500 was awaiting aid from the United States. Captain Ely said all seemed quiet, and he intends returning to Mazatlan with those desiring to leave Los Mochas, and at Mazatlan he expects to take on about sixty-five persons who wish to leave Mexico.

PLUCKY BALOONIST

Invited the Turks to Fire Upon Him as an Experiment.

London, May 8.—A dispatch from the Turkish headquarters at Arizla says the other day the Marquis Piraino dropped from a dirigible balloon a note addressed to the Turkish artillery commandant asking if he would, merely in the interests of the science of aerial warfare, try the effect of artillery fire against a balloon. The marquis returned with his balloon the next day and the Turks fired. They apparently hit the balloon, but did not disable it.

They Insist on Lifeboats.

London, May 8.—The Peninsular & Oriental Steamship company employees have been called out on strike at Tilbury because of the alleged refusal of that company to carry enough lifeboats on its steamers to provide accommodations for everybody in an emergency and also the refusal to provide two additional seamen to man each boat.

Wheat in Bad Shape.

Washington, May 8.—The May crop report of the department of agriculture gives the winter wheat condition at 79.7; area remaining 25,744,000 acres, or 3,418,000 acres less than in 1911, and 6,469,000 acres less than sown last fall. Indicated yield 14.4 bushels an acre. Estimated crop, 370,714,000 bushels.

Women Beat Up Mine Men.

Scranton, Pa., May 8.—A mob of 500, mostly women, armed with iron drills, clubs and stones, attacked a party of repair men on their way to work at the Dickson colliery, and badly beat up four men before the police could force the crowd to scatter.

Jefferson to Taggart.

The liquoristic State press bureau has sent out to the Democratic newspapers of the State a two column article in plate on "Thomas Taggart—His Relations to the Democratic Party in Indiana," says the Marion Chronicle. This article is exceedingly interesting, because it may be considered an official exposition of the relations of the Democratic party in Indiana to Mr. Taggart.

One striking statement from this article is as follows: "Politics in cities is much different than in the country districts. Means are employed there that would not be tolerated in rural districts, and in his contests Mr. Taggart applies the rule of fighting the devil with fire. The demands of the hour have caused him to do things that do not meet the approval of even his friends, just as your wife, your pastor or your child. He has used whatever force was necessary to combat the force used against him, but never when it was not in the interests of the Democratic party."

To those Democrats who justify any kind of political crookedness so long as it is committed in the name of their party, this is certainly a winning argument. To those who believe in the square deal in politics the open announcement of the Taggart way of playing politics is disgusting. It may be added that those Democrats who remember the way the Parker program was put over, and the methods used in getting delegates for Ralston at Indianapolis, will be inclined to doubt the statement that Mr. Taggart has never used illegal and unfair methods of carrying his point "when it was not in the interests of the Democratic party."

The official bulletin continues: "No man has been looked to as earnestly as has Mr. Taggart in the past twenty years when hard work was to be done and campaign expenses were to be met. Thomas Taggart has been the lifeblood of the Indiana Democracy for years that are past, and in the future, so long as his health, his energy and his money is his, he will be found the mainstay, the hope, the rallying force of the followers of Jefferson and Jackson."

From Jefferson and Jackson to Tom Taggart is some jump, but according to the press bureau maintained by the brewers in Indianapolis for the promulgation of "the sacred principles" of liquorism the leap has been made. The next vacancy in the United States senate from Indiana will be filled by Thomas Taggart if the party of which he is "the mainstay, the hope, the rallying force" is in power under its present leadership.

The Suffragettes had a brilliant parade in New York, but we entertain the suspicion that Hubby's hash was burned that morning.

SUSPECTS HELD IN ST. PAUL CASE

William Dean and Donald Whitaker of Near Moscow Given Sweating at Greensburg.

DETECTIVE SAUSES ARREST

Two Are Suspected of Being "Fire
Bugs" Who Caused $7,000
Blaze Last Friday.

On the theory that the fire at St. Paul last Friday morning which resulted in the destruction of the Dr. Pagel barn and the William Kelso residence and general store building, was the work of fire fiends, a detective has been at work in the town since last Friday night, the sleuth having been brought there from one of the agencies in Indianapolis as there are quite a number of St. Paul people, it is said, who refuse to be convinced that the disastrous fire was the result of accident, and it is believed that two arrests made may throw some light on the mystery. Although no direct charge is made, it is said that the arrests were made as part of the plan of the detectives to fix the blame of the fire.

The men taken in charge are William Petty of St. Omer, better known in and around St. Paul as William Dean, and Donald Whitaker, who resides on the Nathan Farlow farm, three miles northeast of St. Paul. They are held temporarily on charges of intoxication, but were given a "sweating" at Greensburg for the purpose of causing them to explain why they were out so late the night of the fire.

It is said at St. Paul they are known to have been in that town the night of the fire till a very late hour and it is thought they may be able to throw some light on the situation.

The men were arrested at different times by Sheriff Patterson, of Greensburg. Whitaker was taken early in the evening and Dean some time later, just after he had reached Greensburg from Milroy with a load of junk. The men are both about thirty-seven years of age, and are frequent visitors at St. Paul.

Residents of St. Paul familiar with the situation today refused to talk at any great length about the arrests, though all those interviewed said they understood the arrests of the men at Greensburg meant more than a mere arraignment on charges of intoxication. None of them, however, would say that there was any evidence to indicate that the men in custody had started the fire.

CHAPTER VI.

The Return of Rowland.

ON a certain morning about two months after the announcement of the loss of the Titan Mr. Meyer sat at his desk in the rooms busily writing when the old gentleman who had bequeathed the death of his son in the intelligence office tottered in and took a chair beside him.

"Good morning, Mr. Selfridge," he said, scarcely looking up. "I suppose you have come to see der insurance paid over. Der sixty days are up."

"Yes, yes, Mr. Meyer," said the old gentleman wearily. "Of course as merely a stockholder I can take no active part. But I am a member here and naturally a little anxious. All I had in the world, even to my son and grandchild, was in the Titan."

"It is very sad, Mr. Selfridge. You have my deepest sympathy. I peltore you are der largest holder of Titan stock, about £100,000, is it not?"

"About that."

"I am der heaviest insurer. So Mr. Selfridge this battle will be largely between you and myself."

"Battle! Is there to be any difficulty?" asked Mr. Selfridge anxiously. "Perhaps; I do not know. Der underwriters and outside companies have blaced matters in my hands and will not bay until I take der initiative. We must hear from one John Rowland, who, with a little child, was rescued from der berg and taken to Christiansand. He has been too sick to leave der ship which found him and is coming up der Thames in her this morning. I have a carriage at der dock and expect him at my office by noon. Dere is where we will dransact this little pizness, not here."

"A child—saved!" queried the old gentleman. "Dear me! It may be little Myra. She was not at Gibraltar with the others. I would not care—I would not care much about the money if she was safe. But my son, my only son, is gone, and Mr. Meyer I am a ruined man if this insurance is not paid."

"And I am a ruined man if it is," said Mr. Meyer, rising. "Will you come around to der office, Mr. Selfridge? I expect der attorney and Captain Bryce are dere now." Mr. Selfridge arose and accompanied him to the street.

A rather meagerly furnished private office in Threadneedle street, partitioned off from a larger one bearing Mr. Meyer's name in the window, received the two men, one of whom, in the interests of good business, was soon to be impoverished. They had not waited a minute before Captain Bryce and Mr. Austen were announced and ushered in. Seated, well fed and gentlemanly in manner, perfect types of the British naval officer, they bowed politely to Mr. Selfridge when Mr. Meyer introduced them as the captain and first officer of the Titan and seated themselves. A few moments later brought a shrewd looking person whom Mr. Meyer addressed as the attorney for the steamship company, but did not introduce, for such are the amenities of the English system of caste.

"Now, then, gentlemen," said Mr. Meyer. "I peltore we can proceed to pizness up to a certain point—perhaps further. Mr. Thompson, you have the affidavit of Captain Bryce."

"I have," said the attorney, producing a document which Mr. Meyer glanced at and handed back.

"And in this statement, captain," he said, "you have sworn that der voyage was uneventful up to der moment of der wreck—that is," he added with an oily smile as he noticed the paling of the captain's face, "that nothing occurred to make der Titan sea-worthy or manageable?"

"That is what I swore to," said the captain with a little sigh.

"You are part owner, are you not, Captain Bryce?"

"I own five shares of the company's stock."

"I have examined der charter and der company lists," said Mr. Meyer. "Each boat of der company is, so far as assessments and dividends are concerned, a separate company. I find you are listed as owning two-sixty-secoods of der Titan stock. This makes you, under der law, part owner of der Titan and responsible as such."

"What do you mean, sir, by that word 'responsible'?" said Captain Bryce quickly.

For answer Mr. Meyer elevated his black eyebrows, assumed an attitude of listening, looked at his watch and went to the door, which as he opened admitted the sound of carriage wheels.

"In here," he called to his clerks, then faced the captain.

"What do I mean, Captain Bryce?" he thundered. "I mean that you have concealed in your sworn statement all reference to der fact that you collided with and sunk the ship Royal Age on der night before der wreck of your own ship!"

"Who says so? How do you know it?" blustered the captain. "You have only that bulletin statement of der man Rowland, an irresponsible drunkard."

"The man was lifted aboard drunk at New York," broke in the first officer, "and remained in a condition of delirium tremens up to the shipwreck. We did not meet the Royal Age and are in no way responsible for her loss."

"Yes," added Captain Bryce, "and a man in that condition is liable to see anything. We listened to his ravings on the night of the wreck. He was on lookout—on the bridge. Mr. Austen, the boatswain, and myself were close to him."

"O God, I thank thee!"

Before Mr. Meyer's oily smile had indicated to the flustered captain that he had said too much the door opened and admitted Rowland, pale and weak, with empty left sleeve, leaning on the arm of a bronze bearded and manly looking giant who carried little Myra on the other shoulder and who said in the breezy tone of the quarter deck:

"Well, I've brought him half dead. But why couldn't you give me time to dock my ship? A mate can't do everything."

"And this is Captain Barry of der Peerless," said Mr. Meyer, taking his hand. "It is all right, my friend; you will not lose. And this is Mr. Rowland, and this is der little child. Sit down, my friend. I congratulate you on your escape."

"Thank you," said Rowland weakly as he seated himself. "They cut my arm off at Christiansand, and I still live. That is my escape."

Captain Bryce and Mr. Austen, pale and motionless, stared hard at this man, in whose emaciated face, refined

ACT QUICKLY

Delay Has Been Dangerous in Rushville.

Do the right thing at the right time. Act quickly in time of danger. Backache is kidney danger. Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly. Plenty of evidence to prove this.

Harrison Levi, 931 North Sexton St., Rushville, says: "I have nothing but praise for Doan's Kidney Pills, for they have been of great benefit to me. I was subject to attacks of kidney trouble and no doubt the complaint was brought on by the hardships I endured while in the war. I had severe pains in my back and kidney secretions were irregular in passage. This weakness disturbed my rest and I knew that something must be done. Three years ago Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and procuring a box at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store. I began their use. In a short time the backache and kidney weakness disappeared and I was in much better health. I cannot say that I am completely cured, but I know that I can rely on Doan's Kidney Pills for relief. I have previously given a public statement in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills and I gladly endorse them again."

by suffering to the almost spiritual softness of age, they hardly recognized the features of the troublesome sailor of the Titan. His clothing, though clean, was ragged and patched.

Mr. Selfridge had arisen and was also staring, not at Rowland, but at the child, who, seated in the lap of the big Captain Barry, was looking around with wondering eyes. Her costume was unique. A dress of bagging stuff put together, as were her canvas shoes and hat, with sail twine in sailmaker's stitches, three to the inch, covered skirts and underclothing made from old flannel shirts. It represented many an hour's work of the watch below, lovingly bestowed by the crew of the Peerless, for the crippled Rowland could not sew. Mr. Selfridge approached, scanned the pretty features closely and asked:

"What is her name?"

"Her first name is Myra," answered Rowland. "She remembers that. But I have not learned her last name, though I knew her mother years ago—before her marriage."

"Myra, Myra," repeated the old gentleman, "do you know me? Don't you know me?" He trembled visibly as he stooped and kissed her. The little forehead puckered and wrinkled as the child struggled with memory; then it cleared, and the whole face sweetened to a smile.

"Gwampa," she said.

"O God, I thank thee," murmured Mr. Selfridge, taking her in his arms. "I have lost my son, but I have found his child—my granddaughter."

"But, sir," asked Rowland eagerly, "you this child's grandfather? Your son is lost, you say. Was he on board the Titan? And the mother—was she saved or is she too?" He stopped, unable to continue.

"The mother is safe in New York, but the father, my son, has not yet been heard from," said the old man mournfully.

Rowland's head sank, and he hid his face for a moment in his arm on the table at which he sat. It had been a face as old and worn and weary as that of the white haired man confronting him. On it when it raised, flushed, bright eyed and smiling, was the glory of youth.

"I trust, sir," he said, "that you will telegraph her. I am penniless at present and, besides, do not know her name."

"Selfridge—which, of course, is my own name. Mrs. Colonel or Mrs. George Selfridge. Our New York address is well known. But I shall cable her at once, and, believe me, sir, although I can understand that our debt to you cannot be named in terms of money, you need not be penniless long. You are evidently a capable man, and I have wealth and influence."

Rowland merely bowed slightly, but Mr. Meyer muttered to himself: "Wealth and influence. Perhaps not. Now, gentlemen," he added in a louder tone, "to pizness. Mr. Rowland, will you tell us about der running down of der Royal Age?"

"Was it the Royal Age?" asked Rowland. "I sailed in her one voyage. Yes, certainly."

Mr. Selfridge, more interested in Myra than in the coming account, carried her over to a chair in the corner and sat down, where he fondled and talked to her after the manner of grandfathers the world over, and Rowland, first looking steadily into the faces of the two men he had come to expose and whose presence he had thus far ignored, told, while they held their teeth tight together and often buried their fingers in their palms, the terrible story of the cutting in half of the ship on the first night out from New York, finishing with the attempted bribery and his refusal.

"Well, gentlemen, what do you think of that?" asked Mr. Meyer, looking around.

"A lie, from beginning to end!" stormed Captain Bryce.

Rowland rose to his feet, but was pressed back by the big man who had accompanied him, who then faced Captain Bryce and said quietly:

"I saw a polar bear that this man killed in open fight. I saw his arm afterward, and while nursing him away from death I heard no whines or complaints. He can fight his own battles when well, and when sick I'll do it for him. If you insult him again in my presence I'll knock your teeth down your throat."

Industrial Workers of America and Socialists Blamed by Miners.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 8.—The attempt of the Socialists among the anthracite mine workers to arouse the men to such a condition of excitement over the situation that they will march upon Harrisburg and demand state control of the mines with an immediate resumption of work, is being vigorously denounced by the conservative mine workers.

Mining men and many of the conservative union leaders are now blaming the Socialists and the Industrial Workers of America for inciting the violence of the last few days throughout the region, and declare they are getting many of the foreign born mine workers so worked up that they are doing serious injury to the union.

WHY CHILDREN ARE PUNY

Need More Food—Richer Blood, Better Appetite.

Anxious parents often wonder why their children are so thin, pale and nervous and have so little appetite. Growing children need "lots" of food. They use so much energy in play, and their growing bodies require so much more, that unless they eat heartily they are bound to suffer.

A Bloomfield, N. J., mother, Mrs. E. W. Cooper, says: "My little girl had a bad cold and was run down in health for six weeks. Then I gave her Vinol and it was a wonderful help, breaking up her cold quickly and building up strength besides. I have also found Vinol an excellent tonic for keeping up children's strength during whooping cough."

Our delicious whooping cough. Our delicious tonic, Vinol, is a wonderful appetizer and you can see children improve day by day under its use. It enriches the blood and builds up the body, making pale, delicate children rugged and rosy.

We guarantee Vinol to do this, if it does not, you get your money back. F. B. Johnson & Co., Rushville, Ind.

STRAIN ON THE LEVEES GROWS

Louisiana Flood Sufferers in a Hopeless State.

MANY ARE CRAZED WITH FEAR

With the Waters Continually Rising and Force of Dyke Repairs Work Out by Incessant and Hopeless Labor, the Situation at Many Points Along the Swollen Father of Waters is Just as Bad as It Can Be.

New Orleans, May 8.—The most harrowing stories yet recorded of suffering and death in the interior of the state are told by refugees brought from the flooded districts of Louisiana into New Roads, Baton Rouge, Opelousas, La Fayette and other camps. A number of men and women were crazed with fear and hardship, while many others were so ill they had to be hurried to hospitals or given such immediate temporary relief as surgeons on the rescue boats could supply.

There has been no recent break of consequence in any levee, but there is little real relief evidenced, as the rising river continues to exercise a constantly increasing strain upon the weakened walls of mud.

Estimates of the actual life loss still vary widely, but it is admitted on all sides that scores must have been trapped and are unable to escape. Women with babies born since the flood swept down upon their homes, men and women fainting from hunger, crazed survivors fighting rescuers are some of the stories culled from the sad abundance of such incidents.

Eighteen persons, sixteen of them negroes, engaged in rescue work or already rescued, were drowned in three accidents last night near Torras. A motor boat containing fourteen negroes capsized and sank, drowning all on board, and two negroes went to death in a barge that sank. Two white persons near Baton Rouge met death in a similar manner.

Governor Sanders has telegraphed mayors of towns all over the state, asking aid. It is reported that the elaborate ceremonial of Governor-elect Hall's inauguration will be omitted and the funds used to help flood sufferers. Governor Sanders declined to accept a banquet from his personal staff, and the money for this banquet was forwarded to the relief committee.

As an example of the number of homeless in the section from Rosedale, Miss., to Natchez, and from Arkansas City, Ark., to the Red river, 105,000 persons are shown to be absolutely dependent upon the government for rations. The United States weather bureau has lowered by half a foot its forecast of a maximum stage of twenty-two feet in the river at New Orleans, but has added three-tenths of a foot to its predicted maximum stage at Baton Rouge and two-tenths for Donaldsville.

Steamship Probably Lost.

New York, May 8.—The Augsburg, a German steamship which left here for Australia Feb. 2 with a cargo valued at a million dollars, is missing, and it is feared that all on board have perished.

STOPS SCALP ITCH

Dandruff and Every Form of Scalp Disease Cured Quick by Zemo.

It is simply wonderful how Zemo goes after dandruff. You rub a little of it in with the tips of the fingers. It gets right down into the glands, stimulates them, stops the itch, and makes the head feel fine. No, it isn't sticky! Zemo is a fine, clear, vanishing liquid. You don't have to even wash your hands after using Zemo. And what a wonder it is for eczema, rash, pimples and all skin afflictions. A 25c. trial bottle at F. E. Wolcott's Drug Store is guaranteed to stop any skin irritation.

Zemo is prepared by E. W. Rose Medicine Co., St. Louis, Mo., and is regularly sold by druggists at $1 a bottle. But to prove what it will do at trifling expense, Zemo is now put up in 25c. trial bottles.

and we assure you that we will never do that. We will still continue selling the highest grade of buggies that we can find and at a price that you will not question as being right when we demonstrate to you the kind of material that is used in their construction. We can demonstrate to you on our sample floor just what each and every buggy that we sell is made of and in a way that will leave no doubt in your mind as to the kind of material they are made of. COL. GUFFEY GOT
NOTICE TO QUIT

Pennsylvania Democrats Turn
Over a New Leaf.

THE ORGANIZERS VICTORIOUS

By a Vote of 110 to 73 the State Convention Declares For a New Deal in Party Organization, Col. Guffey and His Associates Being Retired by a Combination Headed by Congressman Palmer and ex-Mayor Guthrie.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 8.—The reorganization faction was successful over the regulars or the old guards in the Pennsylvania Democratic state convention, and the control of the party machinery was wrested from Colonel J. M. Guffey and his associates by a combination headed by Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer of Stroudsburg, ex-Mayor George W. Guthrie of Pittsburgh, and ex-Mayor Vance C. McCormick of Harrisburg.

As a result of this action, Congressman Palmer is to be elected national committeeman from Pennsylvania to succeed Colonel Guffey, and Mr. Guthrie is to be chairman of the state committee in place of Walter E. Ritter of Williamsport.

The test came in the vote on permanent chairman of the convention, Joseph E. O'Brien of Scranton, the candidate of the reorganizers, defeating ex-Judge James G. Gordon of Philadelphia, candidate of the regulars, 110 to 73. After that there was no contest and the slate of the reorganizers went through by acclamation.

Twelve delegates-at-large to the national convention were elected and instructed to vote for Woodrow Wilson as long as his name shall be before the convention. The platform declares among other things that the great issues of the day are the restoration of representative government, the restraining of the judiciary to its proper office, and the revision of the tariff.

DOORS CLOSED

Senate Committee Excludes Public From Preliminary Hearing.

Washington, May 8.—With a view to determining whether Judge Robert W. Archbald of the United States commerce court shall be impeached, the house judiciary committee has begun a preliminary investigation of the charges that have been lodged against the jurist. The documentary evidence in the case, which was transmitted under seal to the house by President Taft, was opened by the committee and its reading began. After all the documents have been read the committee will open its doors to the public and the formal investigation will be begun.

Benefits of Outdoor Exercise.

London, May 8.—Empress Eugenie, widow of Napoleon III., the deposed emperor of France, has just celebrated her eighty-sixth birthday. She received innumerable congratulations from all quarters of the world. The former empress is now practically recovered from her recent severe illness, and she attributes her recovery to her general good health and her fondness for walking, which exercise she takes every day, whether it be wet or fine.

Mr. Taft's Busy Day.

Cincinnati, May 8.—President Taft started early this morning on the last lap of his present speechmaking trip through his native state. He was scheduled to make fourteen speeches, beginning at Batavia and ending at Columbus. The campaign in Ohio between President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt for the forty-eight delegates to the Chicago convention will be more bitterly contested than the recent political fights in Massachusetts and Maryland.

Good Story Blows Up.

Berlin, May 8.—The story about the Rev. Dr. Liebe, the former Catholic clergyman who committed suicide last week and left jewels which were supposed to be of the greatest value, has blown up. The priceless treasures, the diamonds, etc., turn out to be valueless imitations of mineralogical specimens.

GIOVANNI BONZANO

New York, May 8.—A reception in honor of the newly appointed papal delegate, Archbishop Bonzano, was held at the Catholic club. Cardinal Farley was present at the reception and spoke. Other speakers were Michael J. Mulqueen, president of the Catholic club, and Supreme Court Justice Victor J. Dowling. The papal delegate responded in English.

Beam Not Heavy Enough.

Hammond, Ind., May 8.—Four men were fatally injured when a concrete roof which was being put on the substation of the Northern Indiana Gas and Electric company's plant fell and carried the men to the ground. The accident was due to a knotted beam, which was not heavy enough to bear the strain. The injured are Harry Rife, foreman, Archie Morett, Hans Andrews and E. Peterson.

A Badly Mixed Venire.

Brazil, Ind., May 8.—When the persons selected for jury duty had been assembled by Sheriff Nance for the May term of the Clay circuit court it was found that among the number was one woman, Mrs. E. E. McCallister of Jackson township, and three mutes and one blind man. It was necessary to select other persons to take their places. The names were drawn by the jury commissioners.

Probably Fatal Auto Accident.

Kokomo, Ind., May 8.—Merle Hawkins, aged nineteen years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alza Hawkins of this city, was run down in the street near her home by Amos Ratcliff of Russiaville, and, it is believed, fatally injured. Miss Hawkins is crossing the street standing near the curb, and in front of the automobile, which she did not see approaching.

Lockwood's Hat in the Ring.

Marion, Ind., May 8.—George B. Lockwood, editor of the Marion Chronicle, in a letter written to Walter Hall, editor of the Huntington Herald, makes it known that he will be a candidate for governor if the Republican party in general shall become united and if a plank pledging the party to county local option is written in the state platform.

It would surprise you to know of the great good that is being done by Chamberlain's Tablets. Darius Downey, of Newburg Junction, N. TERRIBLE PLIGHT Elevator Boy Crushed in Shaft Hange For Half an Hour.

Lafayette, Ind., May 8.—James Dickinson, an elevator boy at the Hotel Lahr was terribly injured and narrowly escaped death in an elevator accident. For half an hour the boy hung head downward at the top of the elevator shaft with his legs crushed in between the door, the car and the ledge of the shaft. Dickinson had left the car at the third floor, where he took a man to a room. He then went back to the car to answer a call from the first floor. The car, instead of going down, started upward.

Dickinson was struck by the door and plunged head downward, his body filling the opening between the car and shaft until the lower part of the elevator caught both legs near the ankles and jammed them in between the bottom of the car and the ledge. There he hung, screaming with pain, and it was a difficult task to extricate him without killing him when the car moved. The only way to get Dickinson out was to run the elevator down to the third floor entrance. This was done after forcing the boy's legs against the shaft, each move of the car increasing the boy's pain. He was finally taken out with both legs broken and terribly cut and bruised from head to foot.

Now is the time to get rid of your rheumatism. You can do it by applying Chamberlain's Liniment and massaging the parts freely at each application. For sale by All Dealers.

sion until 8 o'clock at night ample opportunity is given to every voter in the precinct to register.

Each man, when he registers, files with the board his written application for registration. It is advisable that every voter get one of the blanks and fill it out before he goes to the place of registration.

However, there will be a supply of blanks at each registration place, and if a voter has not obtained a blank in advance he may get one from the inspector when he goes to the place to register.

The blank itself is easily understood. It contains a number of questions which the applicant for registration must answer, but they are not complicated. Answers to these questions will show whether the applicant is a legal voter competent to register in the precinct.

Each voter is required to register in person. He must go personally to the place of registration and file his application himself. He can not send it by mail or by any other person.

There will be another session of the registration board in each precinct in September, and another session in October, but a voter is not required to register more than once. If a voter registers at the May session, he need not register at any one of the later sessions unless he moves into a different precinct. If he moves, he must register again in the precinct into which he moves.

NEGRO IS HELD AS A WITNESS

reasonably well, so far as could be learned. Although he is said to have been dumfounded by the charge placed against him, which accounted for his unusual self control when he was taken behind the bars yesterday afternoon, he was prepared in a measure for such a shock since many rumors linking his name with the case had come to his ears.

The indictment returned against Paul Harris by the grand jury yesterday is in three counts. The first charges Mrs. Minna C. Harris was killed by her only son with a revolver; the second is that Mrs. Harris was murdered with a weapon unknown to the grand jury and the third is that Mrs. Harris was burned to death.

The first count charges that Paul Harris "did unlawfully, feloniously, purposely and with premeditated malice, kill and murder one Minna C. Harris by then and there feloniously, purposely and with premeditated malice, by shooting at, against and into the said Minna C. Harris with a certain deadly weapon called a revolver, then and there loaded with gunpowder and leaden balls which revolver the said Paul Harris then and there held in his hands and thereby inflicted a mortal wound on Minna C. Harris from which she died."

The second count charges that Paul Harris "in some manner and by some means, instruments and weapons, unknown to the grand jurors, inflicted a mortal wound on his mother, from which she died."

In the third count the grand jurors charge that "Paul Harris then and there feloniously, purposely and with premeditated malice set fire to and burn the body of Minna C. Harris, and by reason of burning, so inflicted by him, she died."

The names of Alva Eakins, A. G. Shauck, Frank Wynn, James Alexander, Joe Vandemant, George C. Wyatt, et al. are affixed to the affidavit as witnesses.

The evidence taken at the coroner's inquests during the six weeks that he was conducting an investigation is still being suppressed by the officials. Some parts of it have been given to the public, but it is inferred from statements which have been made that the State still has something up its sleeve in reserve to spring at the trial.
